

SEEK TO PREVENT NEEDLESS AGITATION

President Wilson Is Opposed to Any Hasty Declaration of Policy

OPPOSES APPEARANCE

President Does Not Favor the Appearance of Ambassador Wilson Before Committee

WOULD AGITATE SITUATION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Development in the Mexican situation today were confined to efforts on the part of the administration to prevent unnecessary agitation over the revolution.

So far as the United States is informed, both the federal and constitutionalists are complying with the desire of the American government for the protection of foreigners and their property and there is a hopeful feeling manifest in official circles that efforts by influential Mexicans to bring about peace may be successful.

In the meantime President Wilson and his advisers are opposed to any attempt to force the American government into any hasty declaration of policy. Secretary Bryan promptly denied to day a story that European governments are pressing the United States to action. On the authority of the president himself it is known that the only documents from foreign powers to the United States on the subject in recent months were those transmitted when the diplomatic representatives in Mexico City recently gave a description of conditions in the republic to their home governments with the request that the information be conveyed to the United States. The president has told inquirers within the last twenty-four hours that in no case was there any suggestion or intimation of action desired but merely a recital of conditions.

Does Not Favor Proposal.

To prevent an aggravation of the situation which in the view of officials here is slowly adjusting itself, the administration, it became known, does not look favorably on the proposal to have Ambassador J. Lane Wilson appear before the house committee on foreign affairs. Administration officials do not think it compatible with the public interests to have Ambassador Wilson appear before the senate committee on foreign relations, not because they hesitated in any way to submit the reports he had made but because the feeling is growing among them that he is a factor in promoting objectionable discussion in Mexico. The ambassador is known to hold views at variance with those of the president and Secretary Bryan and it is said on good authority that information is in possession of the state department, contradicting in many essentials the reports of Ambassador Wilson. For this reason it is believed that when Chairman Flood of the house committee on foreign affairs consults the president or Secretary Bryan about summoning the ambassador before the committee he will be informed that while no objection exists allowing the house committee the same information which the ambassador gave the senate committee, the administration is strongly desirous not to agitate the situation any further, especially in view of the fact that Mr. Wilson is not likely to go back to Mexico as an American ambassador.

Makes Slow Progress.

News was scant in Mexican circles about the progress of the peace suggestions that are assailing to and fro between some of the leaders of the two factions in Mexico. The most significant fact was the frequent use of the name of Miguel Covarrubias at present Mexican minister to Russia for provisional president. Covarrubias is an appointee of the Huerta administration but is not affiliated with any factions in Mexico. He would satisfy the constitutionalists who say their only desire is to have a provisional president chosen to succeed Huerta, who would conduct a free and honest election.

WILL HOLD WOMAN TO GRAND JURY.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—A coroner's jury which investigated the murder of James Acques, wealthy restaurant owner, who was found shot through the heart in a vacant lot July 14, today returned a verdict recommending that Mrs. Elizabeth De Samone be held to the grand jury as an accessory and that Nicholas and Tony De Samone who disappeared be arrested.

It was brought out at the inquest that Acques had received threatening and anonymous letters before he was killed.

The shooting is said to have followed a quarrel.

ARMED GUARDS ARE WITHDRAWN

FEAR OF EXTENSIVE DYNAMITE PLOT SUBSIDES

Commercial Conditions in the Strike Zone However Are Steadily Growing Worse—Merchants Are Abandoning Delivery System and Reducing Clerk Forces.

CALUMET, Mich., Aug. 1.—Armed guards tonight were withdrawn from patrolling the Portage Lake Bridge, connecting Houghton and Hancock, the fear of authorities that there was a dynamite plot on foot in connection with the strike of copper miners having subsided somewhat. It had been asserted by the officers in charge of the strike patrol that an attempt was on foot to sack the explosive vaults of the mining companies and a corps of soldiers was placed on the bridge to scrutinize all persons who passed.

To day when eight men, arrested at Red Jacket were arraigned in an Houghton justice court no evidence was presented and their preliminary hearing was set for August 11th. Joseph Mihelich, from whom a capped stick of dynamite was taken, was held under $3,000 bonds and half of the others was fixed at one third of that amount.

None of them furnished security. That the scare was still in existence, however, was shown by the repetition of last night's precautions in guarding the Portage Lake Bridge. No one was allowed to cross the structure except after careful scrutiny by a militia guard, street cars, automobiles and foot passengers being stopped at the approaches.

Commercial conditions in the strike zone are steadily growing worse. Some local merchants are considering the advisability of closing their stores part of each day and others have abandoned their delivery systems and reduced their clerk forces. The village of Laurium has a depleted treasury. Collection to date on the tax roll of $32,900 have totalled less than $2,000.

WELLS FARGO EXPRESS RATES ARE REDUCED IN CALIFORNIA

Railroad Commission of That State Orders Reduction Amounting to a Cut of $750,000 Annually.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—The state railroad commission of California ordered reductions today in the express rates of Wells-Fargo & Co. amounting to a cut of $750,000 from present annual revenues. Every rate of the company in this state is abolished by the order which is effective Oct. 1, and over three million new rates devised by the commission on a ten mile zone basis are ordered effective at that time.

To Try Rates Six Months.

San Francisco, Aug. 1.—The express company is ordered to operate six months on the commission's rates, which are, on the average, fifteen per cent below those heretofore exacted and then submit a statement of its earnings, if it feels the rates not justified. At present the commission finds, the company makes a net year-end profit of $840,047 on a property valuation estimated at $612,223, or 136 per cent on its investment.

Pays For Services.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—"As for the express companies being a parasite on the railroads that's absurd," E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, said tonight. "I think the proportion which the express company now pays for service rendered is about equal except that if we were going to make a new contract as we shall in four or five years we would ask for a little more."

CANADIAN REGIMENT TRAMPLES AMERICAN FLAG IN THE DUST

Member of Militia Is Discharged by Later Reinstated for Catching U. S. Flag From Girl and Tossing It Under His Feet.

When the 1050 fusiliers were marching down the main thoroughfare of the city a young girl in a passing automobile waved an American flag in front of one of the members of the bugle band of the regiment. The man broke ranks caught the flag, broke the staff in two and trampled the flag under his feet the majority of the regiment passing over it also.

CASTRO'S ARMY ENTERS VENEZUELA

COUNTRY HAS BEEN ENJOYING PROSPERITY SINCE HIS RETIREMENT

Venezuelan Foreign Office Reports That Revolutionists Have Been Defeated by the State Troops at All Points—U. S. Minister Will Be Rushed to Caracas.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—News of appearance in Venezuela of ex-president Cipriano Castro after his five years exile caused something of a sensation at the state department today. For the past five years the department has been keeping Castro under surveillance to prevent him from returning to Venezuela which country has been enjoying a period of untroubled prosperity and quiet since his retirement.

Department officials still supposed the exile was living quietly in the Canary Islands until a cablegram came today announcing his re-entry into the country of his birth at the head of an armed force, while various uprisings in his behalf were reported from different points in Venezuela. He was said to be at Coro.

From the legation at Caracas the state department was informed of uprisings in the state of Tachira, Coro and Masuro. Telegraphic communication between the capital and the disturbed points was interrupted but the Venezuelan foreign office claimed the revolutionists had been defeated by the state troops at all points. The president had been granted dictatorial powers it was said and men were being impressed for military service.

The United States government is represented in Venezuela at present only by a legation clerk, Richard J. Diggs.

Minister Northcott has resigned and quitted his post and Secretary Caffery is now in Washington attached to the Latin-American bureau. It was announced that a secretary would be rushed to Caracas immediately, to be followed by a regularly accredited minister as soon as one could be appointed and confirmed.

The state department to day called upon the navy department for a warship to look after American interests in Venezuelan waters and the Gunboat Des Moines, now at Brunswick, Ga., was ordered to make the cruise. It is calculated that the gunboat can make the run to La Guaira, the nearest point to Caracas in about six days.

COMMITTEE ENDS WORK ON NEW BILL

Consideration of Proposed Currency Measure Is Practically Concluded

WILL TAKE VOTE MONDAY

Will Take Vote On Recommending Measure to Democratic Caucus On Monday

PROPOSE ADVISORY BOARD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Consideration of the administration currency bill was practically concluded tonight by the Democrats of the house banking and currency committee after more than five weeks of constant and stormy discussion. The bill was ordered closed and reprinted and on Monday the Democratic committee members will take a formal vote on recommending the measure to the Democratic caucus. It will go to the caucus with the disapproval of at least three members of the committee it was practically certain tonight.

As closed tonight the bill differs little in its essentials from the administration measure framed by Representative Glass, Chairman Owen, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and approved by President Wilson. The complete government control of the federal reserve board which will direct the new banking and currency system, deemed by the president the all-important factor of the bill was retained.

Include Amendment.

At the eleventh hour the Democratic members of the committee incorporated an amendment proposing an advisory board. This amendment was in the nature of a compromise with the banking interests which protested vigorously against the governmental feature of the control of the board.

Another important amendment incorporated in the bill altering the discount section conferring the power to require federal reserve banks to mutually rediscount.

A change was made in the division of the earnings of the federal reserve banks created by law. Originally the banks were allowed a year cumulated dividend of five per cent and a surplus equal to twenty per cent of the paid in capital stock. All earnings above these amounts reverted to the government. As amended the balance of earnings after the five per cent dividend and the twenty per cent surplus will be paid, sixty per cent to the government to be used as a sinking fund to reduce the national debt and forty per cent to be divided among the members in proportion to their balance in the federal reserve bank concerned. In the reserve section the committee reduced the period during which a bank must hold a twenty five per cent reserve against deposits from twenty six months to sixty days.

As finally passed the reserve section requires that after a period of gradual changes the country banks must keep their fifteen per cent reserves either in their own vaults or in the federal reserve bank of the district in which they are located.

By a vote of 7 to 5 the conference to day struck from the bill a provision previously inserted forbidding interlocking directorates between banks. It was stricken out on representations that the president believed it should be considered from the general currency legislation.

The so-called insurgent amendments to the bill providing for currency on warehouse receipts for cotton, corn and wheat, were voted down to day in a viva voce vote, with little discussion. Representative Ransdale and Henry of Texas will carry the fight for these amendments to the floor of the Democratic caucus tomorrow.

FARRELL BANK BUILDING

IDEAL BAKERY READY FOR BUSINESS

FIRST BREAD BAKED IN BUILDING YESTERDAY.

New Establishment of Messrs. Jenkinson & Haxby Commences Operations Under Most Favorable Auspices—Structure Erected at a Cost of $38,000—How the Bread is Made.

The new plant of the Jenkinson & Haxby ideal bakery, located on South West street near West College avenue, was opened for business Friday, when over 6,000 loaves of bread was baked in truly ideal style. The structure, which was planned by Contractor Joseph DeGoveia, was commenced last November and in its completion the firm has one of the most modern and up-to-date plants that can be found anywhere and would do credit to a city several times the size of Jacksonville. The building is three stories high with basement, made of Alton brick, trimmed with Bedford stone with reinforced concrete floors and roofs, being absolutely fire-proof, the entire cost being $38,000.

The ideal bakery is an industry started four years ago by three well known grocery firms, Homer H. Haxby, M. R. Pith and Bergschneider & Kumble. After being in business for one year, Mr. Haxby purchased the interests of the other men. Since that time Mr. Haxby has almost exclusively devoted his time to the bakery business and the ideal bakery has become a household word in Jacksonville, Morgan county and surrounding country. It was because of the constant demand for ideal bread that the idea was conceived of building a plant which could accommodate the trade.

Mr. W. A. Jenkinson, who is associated with Mr. Haxby, has long been one of the progressive business men of Jacksonville, having been in the wholesale grocery business here for over twenty-five years. He is a man of splendid business integrity and his successful business career of the past quarter of a century bespeaks success for the future. About a year ago the Jenkinson Wholesale Grocery company was reorganized and Frank Bode of Springfield became a partner, the firm's name being Jenkinson & Bode.

Making bread is a great art and in the new building one can see the various processes before the delivery of the bread. The top floor, which now contains over ten cars of flour, has a capacity of twenty cars. Here is also found the brushing machine, where the flour is put into a bin and every foreign substance is absolutely removed.

The second story is also used to store flour and here is located the blending machine, which is built as is all the machinery by the Werner & Pfleiderer company of Saginaw, Mich. The bin, which receives the flour from the brushing machine, is capable of holding twenty-five barrels of flour. It is the intention of the firm some time during the winter months to install their cracker machinery on this floor.

On the first floor is found the commodious office room, the building having both a south and east entrance. The long hallway leads directly to the shipping room, where the bread is transferred after being baked and wrapped ready for delivery.

Machinery of Bakery.
The machinery used in the making of the bread, located on the west side of the ground floor, is of the latest type. After the flour is brushed, sent through the blender, it is dropped into the storage bin. Automatic scales for weighing the flour and the water used is an important piece of the machinery. After the dough is put in the mixer, which is operated by its own power, it is dumped into the dough troughs. Here the dough sets until it is cured properly, when it goes to the brake, the machinery which works the dough thoroughly, taking out the air. The dough next goes to the scaling machine, where it is put into the proper weight and made uniform. The next process sees the dough put through the rounding machine and made in the proper shape for proving. In the proving machine the loaves are kept in motion some fourteen to eighteen minutes, after which the loaves are dumped automatically into the elevator. After passing the moulding process, the dough is ready for the pans. The pans are put into the steaming room and remain there until ready for the ovens.

Ovens of Plant.
The ovens for the plant are of the very latest models. They are two in number and each contains a large draw plate made of steel. There are two of these draw plates in each oven. By this method it is possible to get the bread from all sides of the plate, which facilitates matters not a little. It usually takes from 15 to 18 minutes to bake a batch of bread, which contains in the neighborhood of 700 loaves. As was mentioned above the first day's baking on Friday was about six thousand loaves. The capacity of the ovens can be increased to several times this output. There is also a bin machine which has a capacity of 100 buns per minute. The loaves after being removed from the oven are put on large crates to cool, after which the crates are wheeled into the wrapping room.

In the basement is found the large motor which runs the machinery and also a large tank where the water is purified and made ready for use. Water is secured from the company's own wells and samples of the water have been sent to the University of Illinois, where expert chemists have analyzed it and pronounced it of excellent quality. There is also found in the basement the hot water apparatus.

As yesterday was the first baking day of the new establishment, naturally there was much interest, as to the outcome. When the first baking appeared it was of such uniform size and excellent in quality that those who were present rejoiced with the management in the splendid and auspicious opening. Charles Clark of Saginaw, Mich., the machinery specialist, who was here to see that everything went right, was loud in his praise of the results of the machinery. The first loaf of bread to be purchased from the new building was by Robert Smith of South West street.

There were a number of visitors at the plant yesterday and all were pleased with everything. Messrs. Jenkinson and Haxby were there during the day and every courtesy was extended. With the splendid equipment and the business ability possessed by the proprietors there is every reason to feel that the ideal bakery is destined to take its place as one of the foremost industries of Jacksonville.

ORGANIZE "BURLINGTON WAY" GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION

Meeting Held at Beardstown Friday Afternoon—Homer J. Tice Addresses Gathering.

At a meeting of 150 men from cities along the Burlington way, held in Beardstown Friday, an organization was perfected and officers of "The Burlington Way Good Roads Association" were elected.

Several automobile loads of men from towns along the southern half of the trail arrived in the city Friday morning about 10 o'clock, among them being J. M. Ryrie of Alton, known as the "Father of the Alton Way;" Marshall Dickison and Mr. Davis of Brighton, Arthur Welch and Elmer Carter of Medora, M. Burke, president of the Alton Way, and William Graham, both of Carlinville; John E. Wyatt from White Hall, H. E. Wilhite of Greenfield, a car from Roodhouse, one from Murrayville, and A. L. Carter of Medora, driving the "Pathfinder" of the party.

At this city the cars were met by A. L. Petefish of Virginia, who piloted the party from this city to Virginia, and they were joined here by a car from the Estaque garage driven by A. H. King and the following men: Paul B. Fritchey, O. H. Spaulding, Louis Engel, William Brady and Edward Alexander.

The tourists arrived in Beardstown about 11 o'clock and had dinner at the Park hotel. After a fellowship meeting in the lobby of the hotel, the men went in a body to the Gem theatre building, where the meeting was held. C. J. White of Beardstown was chosen temporary chairman of the meeting and tentative by-laws of the club were submitted. These by-laws were the subject of quite a little discussion, the question being whether there should be officers elected to have charge of the entire trail, or men elected to have charge of different districts. The proposed by-laws provided for a president and secretary-treasurer of the northern and southern divisions of the trail and these were changed so as to provide for general officers with supervision of the entire trail, and officers for the two divisions.

Details of the organization of the club were given by Mr. Wilhite, who outlined his plans for the trail. Mr. Wilhite is the promoter of the trail and has worked up no little interest in the project since it was started about July 4. Homer J. Tice, author of the Tice Road law, was present and addressed the gathering, explaining what was necessary to secure state aid for roads and assuring the men that they were proceeding in the proper manner.

There were about thirty automobiles at Beardstown, the greater number being from towns along the southern division of the trail. The trip of the southern men was quite delightful, with the exception of one accident which occurred within six miles of Beardstown, when A. L. Carter of Medora in the Pathfinder, broke a rear axle and was forced to leave his car.

The Burlington trail, which starts at Twelfth and Washington streets, St. Louis, coming out over the McKinley bridge through Venice, Granite City, Alton, Brighton, Medora, Kempt, Rock Bridge, Greenfield, White Hall, Roodhouse, Manchester, Murrayville, Woodson, Jacksonville, Virginia, and Beardstown, and on to Burlington, is 230 miles long. Mr. Wilhite stated Friday that the trail had now been marked, with the exception of the distance from Jacksonville to the Cass county line, to Macomb. He also stated that this is the only trail going through Jacksonville that would be registered in the Blue Book, and that a man from the publishers of the book would go over the trail between the 12th and 15th of this month to prepare a map of it.

C. J. White was chosen general president and Mr. Kuhlman general secretary-treasurer of the entire trail, both with headquarters in Beardstown. Dr. Ziemmel was chosen president of the Beardstown to Burlington division and according to arrangements a vice president will be named in each city along the route. The officers for the southern of St. Louis to Beardstown division are:

President—H. C. Wilhite of Greenfield.
Secretary-treasurer—M. B. Metcalf of Greenfield.

The following vice presidents were named for the southern division: C. C. Bluker, Beardstown; David Estaque, Jacksonville; George Cunningham, Woodson; C. H. Sencer, Murrayville; Charles Heaton, Manchester; George Bundy, Roodhouse; J. A. Wyatt, White Hall; T. H. Pater, Greenfield; T. C. Carter, Medora; T. A. Hantahan, Brighton; E. W. Huker, Granite City; J. M. Ryrie, Alton, and Mr. Garische, Venice.

MONOPLANE CATCHES FIRE WHILE 4000 FEET IN THE AIR

Chicago Aviator Extinguishes Blaze With Hand Extinguisher and Makes Descent.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—While nearly 4,000 feet in the air, a monoplane driven by W. C. Robinson of Chicago caught fire to day when a fuse on the engine blew out. Robinson extinguished the flames with a hand extinguisher while descending and reached the ground safely. He had gone up in an attempt to break the new American altitude record.

James Irving of San Jose, Calif., who accompanied Roy Francis, a San Francisco aviator on a trip to day dropped in a parachute from an altitude of 4,000 feet and descended safely.

Has Miraculous Escape. Robinson was directly over the downtown district when he discovered his monoplane was in flames. His predicament was seen by watchers at the aviation field who had followed his flight with glasses and on his safe return they greeted him as one whose life had been miraculously saved. When the watchers had seen the puffs of smoke and the flame they felt that the aviator's life was lost.

Robinson said that as he was battling with the fire he looked below and could see Harold F. McCormick sailing in his hydro-aeroplane a little to the east of him in the lower levels.

A WAY OUT

A Resident of Jacksonville Shows the Way.

There's one effective way to relieve kidney backache. Liment and plaster may relieve it.

But they seldom reach the cause. Backache is cause to suspect the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for disordered kidneys. Jacksonville people back them up. Read a case of it.

J. B. Seaver blacksmith, 346 E. North street, Jacksonville, Ill., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with fine results and I am pleased to recommend them. I had pains in the small of my back, especially when I tried to straighten, after stooping. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they stopped the pains. They also regulated the action of my kidneys."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Seaver had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

FRANK READ, JR., TO HEAD OKLAHOMA SCHOOL

Experienced Teacher of the Deaf Appointed Superintendent of State Institution.

Frank Read Jr. of this city has been appointed superintendent of the Oklahoma school for the deaf, according to word received by friends here yesterday morning. Mr. Read was designated for the superintendency of the school at Sulphur, Okla., from among more than a dozen applications. The school in Oklahoma is a new one and had its efficiency lowered lately by politicians on its board of managers. It was removed from all local influence a short time ago, however and now seems to be one of the most promising institutions of the west.

Mr. Read has been connected with work for the deaf and dumb from a nearly day; having been appointed supervisor of boys in the local institution in 1889 the year after his graduation from Illinois college. He was made a regular teacher in 1892 and has filled various positions on the faculty of the school for the past twenty one years.

As a teacher, Mr. Read's work has always been of the highest quality, as a student in Illinois college and as a member of Phi Alpha society his work was carried out with conscientious perseverance. His many friends in Jacksonville will be sorry to see him and his wife leave the city although they rejoice at the same time in the opportunity given him for a larger and more effective labor.

PHYSICIAN COLLAPSES ON WITNESS STAND

Testifies at Trial of Leo M. Frank That Mary Phagan Died of Strangulation.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 1.—While in the midst of the most startling evidence yet produced by the state in the trial of Leo M. Frank for the alleged murder of Mary Phagan, the 14 year old factory girl, Dr. H. F. Harris, secretary of the state board of health, collapsed late today. He recovered somewhat in a few minutes but was unable to resume his testimony. Dr. Harris testified that the girl must have been killed in less than an hour after she ate her lunch on the day before her body was discovered in the basement of the pencil factory. He said that his examination of the contents of the girl's stomach showed that the food she had eaten had not been more than partially digested.

This, the state contended, proved that the girl never left the factory after calling for her pay on the afternoon of April 26. Dr. Harris said he found unmistakable evidences of violent treatment shortly before the girl's death. He declared her death was due to strangulation.

NEGRO MISTAKES MEN FOR BURGLARS AND SHOOTS TO KILL

Shot Kills Patrick Green, Jr., Passes Through His Body and Wounds Louis Kaufmann.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1.—John Winson, a negro, arrested at his work in East St. Louis this afternoon, told the police he fired the shot which killed Patrick Green, Jr., and wounded Louis Kaufmann, a farmer of Kaufmann, Ill., last night. He mistook the men for burglars, when, in an intoxicated condition, they rapped on the shutters of his home, he said.

The bullet entered Green's breast, emerged from his back and lodged in the shoulder of his companion. The negro is booked at police headquarters as "suspected of murder." Kaufmann is being held as a witness for the coroner's inquest tomorrow.

Brandt, an ex-army officer, testified that he received a yearly remuneration for expenses of $833, which he used "among comrades."

ECZEMA SPREAD ALL OVER BODY

Began on Cheeks With Pimples. Itched Badly. Caused Disfigurement. Had to Put Mitten on Him. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Eczema Left Him.

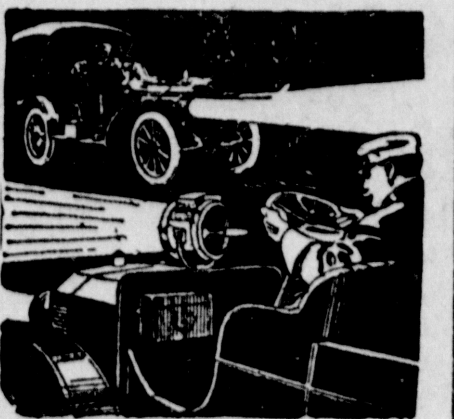

Roxbury, Ohio.—"When my little boy was two weeks old he began breaking out on his cheeks. The eczema began just with pimples and they seemed to itch so badly he would scratch his face and cause a matter to run. Wherever that matter would touch, it would cause another pimple until it spread all over his body. It caused disfigurement while it lasted. He had fifteen places on one arm and his head had several. The deepest places on his cheeks were as large as a silver dollar on each side. He was so restless at night we had to put mittens on him to keep him from scratching them with his finger nails. He could not sleep because I put those mittens on which would not allow him to scratch and then he would wake up and be cross. If he got a little too warm at night it seemed to hurt badly.

"We tried a treatment and he didn't get any better. He had the eczema about three weeks when we began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed him at night with the Cuticura Soap and spread the Cuticura Ointment on and the eczema left." (Signed) Mrs. John White, Mar. 19, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for poor complexions, red, rough hands, and dry, thin and falling hair, and cost so little, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book on the skin and scalp. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and hair.

The Perfect Baby Of The Future

A Simple Method That Has a Wonderful Influence upon The Future Infant.

Too much can not be said for a wonderful remedy, familiar to many women as Mother's Friend. It is more eloquent in its action than all the health rules ever laid down for the guidance of expectant mothers. It is an external application that spreads its influence upon all the cords, muscles, ligaments and tendons that nature calls into play; they expand gracefully without pain, without strain, and thus leave the mind at ease and in joyful anticipation of the greatest of all womanly ambitions.

Mother's Friend must therefore be considered as directly a most important influence upon the character and disposition of the future generation. It is a concealed fact that, with nausea, pain, nervousness and dread banished, there is stored up such an abundance of healthy energy as to bring into being the highest ideals of those who fondly theorize on the rules that insure the coming of the perfect baby.

Mother's Friend can be had at any druggist at $1.00 a bottle, and it is unquestionably one of those remedies that always has a place among the cherished few in the medicine cabinet. Mother's Friend is prepared by the Bradford-Regulator Co., 139 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., after the formula of a noted family doctor. Write them for a very instructive book to expectant mothers. See that your druggist will supply you with Mother's Friend. There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime, do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

but business opponents fought him and no license was granted. Without funds, Kane would work at whatever he could for a while and finally made another appeal to the board. For fourteen years the struggle continued. Two years ago Dean Ricker, chairman of the board, went to Edwardsville and investigated. Then he called a meeting, at which the long-delayed license was granted.

Chicago Ban on Cabarets—Despite the belief of habitués of Chicago's bright-light, eight-hour cafes that it would not be done, the city council put the ban on the cabarets. Under the provisions of an ordinance, passed unanimously, no lights will be permitted in restaurants, actors must remain upon the stage and not mingle with patrons or travel about among them, and no dancing by the patrons in the room where refreshments are served will be tolerated. Under the ordinance, all forms of dancing, even the most modest, must cease, as well as the tango and the turkey trot, the police say.

Illinois Corn Suffers—Comprehensive reports from all quarters of the three counties which surround Peoria, indicate that the corn crop has suffered a loss of 35 per cent during the existing hot spell. Based on a yield of only forty bushels to the acre and valued at but 50 cents per bushel, this loss to the three counties aggregates a total of $2,758,000, figured on an estimated acreage in the three counties of Woodford, Peoria and Tazewell, of approximately 390,000 acres. Should rain not fall over these three counties within the next week, this loss will total between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000.

WESTON NEARS HIS GOAL.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 1.—Escorted by a large crowd of admirers in automobiles and on foot, Edward Payson Weston, the venerable pedestrian who is walking from New York to Minneapolis, walked into St. Paul today from White Bear Lake, where he spent a large part of yesterday and last night as the guest of the St. Paul Automobile club. He will remain in this city over night, leaving tomorrow morning to complete the final stretch of his 1,500 journey.

The arrival of the noted pedestrian in Minneapolis tomorrow will be made the occasion for a great demonstration. The plans are in charge of the Minneapolis Athletic club, at whose invitation Weston undertook his walk from New York. It will be a gala day for the club and will be made notable by the laying of the corner stone for the new fourteen-story club house. In the afternoon a big track and field meet will be given under the club auspices at the athletic field of the University of Minnesota. Weston will attend the meet as the guest of honor and will deliver a message from President John H. Finley of the college of the city of New York, to President George B. Vincent of the University of Minnesota.

I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers. (Adv.)

BOGUS LORD SEEKS FOR HIS FREEDOM

"Lord Barrington's" Friends Try To Secure Pardon or Parole For Him—Recall His Notable Crime.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 1.—Announcement that efforts are to be made to secure a pardon or parole for Frederick A. Seymour, otherwise "Lord Barrington," who is serving a life sentence for the murder of James P. McCann near this city in 1902, has served to recall to the public this pseudo-nobleman, whose career is one of the most romantic in the annals of crime.

The further announcement that "Barrington's" fight for freedom will be based on an allegation that the man he was convicted of slaying is now alive in the person of James P. Maybray, whose hand of swindlers was broken up by the Federal authorities several years ago after Maybray and others had been sent to prison, is generally regarded as but another illustration of the subtlety and resourcefulness of the bogus lord who is now behind prison bars.

There are those, however, that the story is worthy of investigation. It is considered a rather strange coincidence that the three initials of Maybray should be the same as those of the alleged murder victim. Both McCann and Maybray were gamblers and followers of the races. Then Maybray was arrested and tried in Iowa. Little could be learned as to his past history. And, the strongest point of all, there were many persons who, at the time of "Barrington's" arrest, conviction and condemnation to death, still believed that positive proof was lacking that McCann had ever been killed.

There is little doubt that the previous bad record of "Lord Barrington" had much to do with his conviction on the murder charge. He was known in Europe and America as one of the most picturesque figures in "polite" crookdom, for although he was of lowly origin his speciality as passing as a member of the British peerage went well in many cities and helped him to live without work for years.

He began his unique saunter through the calendar of crime when a 7-year-old boy by setting fire to a number of cottages near Brighton, England, where he was born. At the age of 16 he was given a sentence of ten years for burglary, the proceeds of which netted him $10,000. Four years later he escaped, deceiving the police when apprehended by producing a pardon which was not discovered to be a forgery until later.

About this time, having previously taken the name of Frederick Seymour Barrington, he decided it would be to his advantage to give himself a new surrounding by joining the army. A year after he enlisted he forged a furlough fled from the army and committed a burglary for which he did a ten years' stretch. He also was arrested for the murder of an army officer, whose valet he had been, but was released for lack of proof.

While in prison he devoted himself to improving his education. When he came to America after his release in 1891 he was a well polished fraud. He posed here as the son of an English nobleman of rank and wealth. As such he won Miss E. Celestine Miller, of Brooklyn, an heiress with a fortune in her own right. With his bride he had the effrontery to return to England and established himself in a home at Brighton. Soon stripped of every penny by her husband, the unhappy wife returned to America with her child and "Barrington" was arrested and sent back to prison to serve out an old sentence.

Upon his release he again came to the United States and as "Lord Burgoyne" of the British peerage, was received in Philadelphia society. Here he wedded Miss Margaret Rafferty also an heiress. After borrowing a large sum from her he disappeared and was next head of in St. Louis as "Lord Barrington." In this city he met and married Miss Wilhelmina Grace Cochran, of Independence, Iowa. Miss Cochran later had her marriage annulled and was instrumental in sending him to prison. One of the strangest phases of the case at present is the fact that Miss Cochran is said now to be aiding him in his fight for freedom.

The crime for which "Barrington" is serving a life term was committed just ten years ago. James McCann, the alleged victim, was reckless. He drank heavily, went wild a "sporty" crowd, and never worked. He lived upon the residue of a fortune which he had largely dissipated. He became "Barrington's" good friend and patron, and was arranging to back him in a hotel venture during the St. Louis world's fair.

On the night of June 18, 1903, McCann and Barrington visited numerous gaudy and other drinking resorts in St. Louis suburbs. One week later the nude body of a man was found floating in an abandoned quarry near Creve Coeur lake. Friends identified the body as that of McCann. Barrington was at once arrested on a charge of murder. For five years he was in jail in St. Louis while his case was carried through the United States finally upheld his conviction and sentence of death. Notwithstanding this, many persons continued in the belief that the bogus lord was innocent of the murder charged against him. Owing perhaps to the prevalence of this sentiment the sentence was commuted to life imprisonment.

FEEDING THE DRAFT FOAL

Question: How should a draft foal be fed to secure best growth? Answer: The lack of proper care and management of weanlings is one of the greatest drawbacks in the production of good big draft horses. Many horses bred from the right kind of draft stock have been a disappointment. Blood plays a very important part in the production of good draft stuff, while proper care and feeding and, if not more important, draft horse breeders in this country have not always made the most of good blood.

The largest gains are made during the earlier part of the colt's life. The bones and muscle are developed during this early period and the body must be supplied by proper feed if maximum gains are to be made. No inflexible rule can be laid down as to the amounts of feed and manner of feeding. Every animal has its peculiarities and must be treated accordingly; but there are some general rules that may be followed. The mare must be fed for the first two months after foaling for the production of milk and there is no better milk producing food than a luxurious pasture. In addition, a supply of corn and oats (1-3 corn, 2-3 oats by weight) 6 pounds to 10 pounds per day should be given. All feeding should be done regularly and without abrupt changes in the ration. Where mares are worked, they must be liberally fed.

The foal will soon learn to eat if the mare's feed box is placed low enough. Where the mares are on pasture, a pole-creeper should be made so the foals can be fed while their mothers are eating or licking at salt. The feeding boxes must be kept cleaned and aired well. Then the choicest of feed should always be used. This may require a little extra labor, but necessary to keep up the appetite of the foal. Oats, wheat, bran and legume hay, alfalfa, the protein, calcium, and phosphorus that the growing animal needs. For this reason, a ration of the above feeds is as good as can be made. I would suggest a ration of ground

TRADE CONDITIONS REPORTED FAVORABLY

INCREASED PREPARATIONS BEING MADE FOR FALL AND WINTER TRADE.

Optimistic Feeling is Apparently Unimpaired by Reported Damage to Corn—Wheat Yield Will be of Record Proportions.

New York, Aug. 1.—Dun Review tomorrow will say:

Encouraging reports of business conditions predominate and the growth of confidence is evidenced by increased preparations for fall and winter trade. All the leading markets continue quiet, yet in some instances the mid-summer recession has been of shorter duration than customary.

The prevailing optimistic feeling was apparently not impaired by the reported damage to corn and the agricultural situation is still promising. Gradual recovery in spring wheat is accompanied by splendid harvesting returns from the southwest.

Bradstreet's Report.

New York, Aug. 1.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Trading reports still present mixed aspects with perhaps a sharper tendency to temporarily reflect quiet. In the east high rates for money and tariff uncertainty continue to act as repressive influences while in the west adverse news of the corn crop has induced some hesitancy.

As regards the leading crops, it seems certain that the wheat yield will be of record proportions, that cotton will furnish a large crop but that oats, hay and corn will be short—next year, when all three were, however, record breakers.

Business failures for the week were 248, which compares with 224 in 1912.

RED ERRORS HAND PHILLIES GAME

Cincinnati Loses Contest to Philadelphia Through Poor Fielding and Inability to Hit Opportunity

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 1.—Cincinnati played weirdly in the field in the early innings of day's game and Philadelphia won easily 5 to 1. Alexander was master of the situation at all times while the poor fielding of the locals placed Johnson continuously in the hole.

CITY EMPLOYEES WIN FROM STREET CAR MEN

Interesting Game of Ball at Nichols Park Goes 9 to 7—Witnessed by Good Crowd.

The much talked about baseball game between the City employees and street railway employees was a matter of history. The alleged game was pulled off at Nichols Park baseball yard Friday afternoon before an enthusiastic audience.
Frank Baker pitched for the city and one Mistah Stewart received. Mayor Davis pitched to one man in the second, namely Deerfoot Miser. George evidently had something on the ball for the best that Miser could do was a puny pop fly to short.
The scorer made no effort to keep a tabulated score for want of paper, there being only about twenty-five reams on the grounds, and after marking up two twenty foot boards on the bleachers he decided to quit.
The real feature of the game was a triple play by the city employees in the eighth.
Mayor Davis started in the game at right field. He carried a glove, rain-stick and a cigar when he went to his position but after playing one inning he decided to quit. Deerfoot Miser scored from first base on a single and surprised the "fans" by the way he tore around the bases. Hoseman DeSilva of the city employees decided to take a nap off second base in the sixth inning and was caught about ten feet—Doolia to DeFrates.
About fifteen fly balls were knocked

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES

This is "hero" day at the national capital. The bugs will turn out to see Walter Johnson presented with some sort of a loving cup—and as a side issue, to watch him put a crimp in Hughey Jennings' Tigers. The Hon. Tyron Cobb called upon the Hon. Woodrow Wilson at the white house on Thursday and convinced the president that on Saturday he should chuck the job of running the government and get out in the ball park and root for Walter and Ty.

Paul Cobb, the brother of Tyron, who a few days ago was ditched by Lincoln, Neb., has signed to play with Ogden, Utah, in the Union association. Three years ago he was touted as the coming Tyron No. II. But like the Irishman's backwoods scholars he has been continually improving for the worse.

Sioux City is another place where fans refuse to support a losing combination. Ed Hanlon is out with a threat to the effect that fandom must come across with support shortly if the club is to remain in Sioux City; otherwise the president threatens to switch the team to Sioux Falls, S. D.

Mrs. Britton, owner of the Cardinals, does not relish the team's tumble into the cellar, and has placed all of the players, with the exception of Manager McGraw, on the baseball market to be sold outright or to be used in promoting a trade with any of the other clubs.

The officials of the Jacksonville Driving club are to be congratulated upon the magnificent success of their Thursday

A STRONG REFERENCE.
A young man recently applied for a position with a large printing house, and not having a letter of reference, offered his bank book. It showed a regularity of entries of deposit. It was a very strong recompersistence, which finally secured for him a good position.

Agricultural News Valuable To Farmers

THE PROBLEM OF THE WHITE GRUB

THE GRUB CAUSES LOSSES OF THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS TO FARMERS.

The Habits of the Common Field Grub Make it Impossible to Attack it, by Any Means Now Known, Without Injuring the Crop Which it Threatens to Destroy.

(By R. D. Glasgow, Assistant, office of State Entomologist, Urbana, Ill.) The white grub offers one of the major problems that confront the farmer and the economic entomologist today. During the last two years the possible destructiveness of this insect has been brought most forcibly to the attention of the farmers of northern Illinois, and the adjacent portions of Iowa and Wisconsin. In 1912 the losses in these three states caused by the white grub amounted to thousands of dollars, and probably ran into millions. One man reported to the Illinois state entomologist, a loss of $10,000 caused by this insect last year on his farm alone.

The habits of the white grub make it impossible to attack it by any means now known, that would effectually destroy the insect without injury to a crop that is threatened with destruction by it. It is necessary therefore for the farmer to know enough of the life history and habits of this pest, to enable him to recognize the significance of any unexpected appearance of it in his fields. Such a knowledge would often enable him to avoid much of the threatened loss, and it would at least enable him to recognize the danger in time to write to the state entomologist for advice before a crop is lost.

Life History.

White grubs are the young of the large May beetles or June bugs, as they are sometimes called, which are frequently seen flying about lights in late spring.

While it is known that one of the June beetles completes its life cycle from the egg to the egg in two years, several others, and probably most of the injurious species require three years for their complete life cycle, as indicated in the following outline:

First Year.

The May beetles or June bugs pass the winter in the ground. In the spring they come out of their winter quarters, and feed on the leaves of trees and shrubs at night, while they conceal themselves during the day under the grass or by burrowing into the soil.

The eggs are deposited in the soil, usually late in May or in June, from 1 to 5 inches below the surface. The eggs are deposited most commonly in grass lands, but frequently also in gardens, in corn fields, and in other crops. The eggs hatch in about two weeks and the young grubs feed upon the roots of various plants. The grubs grow slowly during the first summer, and in the fall they burrow downward from a foot to three feet or more, where they pass the winter in oval cells that they form in the soil.

Second Year.

Early the following spring, soon after the frost leaves the ground, the grubs come to the surface again, and feed voraciously until cold weather returns, devouring the roots of almost any plant that happens to be available. The second season is the period of the greatest activity, of the most rapid growth and of greatest destructiveness. At the approach of cold weather the grubs again burrow downward and pass the second winter, sometimes as much as three and one-half feet below the surface.

Third Year.

The second spring after the eggs were deposited, the grubs again come to the surface and may be very destructive early in the season; but, usually, sometime in June they stop feeding, form oval cells in the soil; this time only a few inches below the surface, and become sluggish and quiescent.

After a time the grubs pass into the pupa or resting stage, and about a month later the pupae transform into adult May beetles. This transformation commonly occurs from the middle to the last of August, and the May beetles usually remain within the following fall and winter within the cells in which the transformation has taken place.

The beetles pass this third winter, therefore, near the surface of the ground, and emerge the following spring to feed and deposit the eggs for the next generation of grubs.

Knowledge of the Life History a Guide to the Farmer.

If a farmer notices an unusually abundant flight of May beetles in the spring, or if the leaves of trees are badly eaten, he may expect eggs to be deposited in large numbers in grass lands, and possibly also in fields occupied by other crops, especially if there are many trees nearby. If in his late summer or fall plowing or in his spring plowing a farmer sees small, half grown grubs in great numbers in some of his fields, he will know that here is where the eggs were deposited the spring before, and he will know that he must plant some crop on these fields that will produce an abundance of vegetation, something, if possible, that will feed the grubs and still give him a fair yield. A number of white grubs, the work of which would not be noticed in a field of grass, might be sufficient to devour every hill in a field of young corn. In the meadow the vegetation is abundant; in the field of young corn it is relatively very sparse. If the farmer finds larger, almost fully grown white grubs in great numbers, however, he will know that while they may cause severe injury to crops early in the following season, they will soon become inactive and no longer dangerous, and may adjust his planting to this schedule.

White grubs do not migrate from field to field; so just as the well informed farmer can tell from his observations when the crop on a certain field is likely to be damaged by white grubs, he can be sure that the absence of any threatening appearance of this insect in a field gives assurance of freedom from injury for the crops on that field.

Where a field of corn has been ruined by white grubs, and the grub is so abundant as to make it unsafe to replant to corn, a crop of soy

DEVELOPMENT OF THE OSAGE ORANGE HEDGE

25,000,000 PLANTS WERE GROWING IN JACKSONVILLE IN 1851.

Professor Turner, Promoting the Use of the Hedge in Illinois at that Time, had Orders for Hundreds of Thousands of Additional Plants Which Could Not be Filled.

(By John G. Thompson, Department of Economics.)

By 1848 Professor Turner had demonstrated to his complete satisfaction the adaptability of the osage orange for hedging purposes in the conditions attending the war, however, made more difficult the bringing the seed from Texas and Arkansas and the considerable practice after 1861 of the plan of "plashing" seriously reduced the supply of home grown seed, while, by making a more effective fence, at the same time increased the demand for seed. Professor Turner, who had not ceased his efforts on behalf of the osage hedge through all these years by means of thousands of letters, through pamphlets and by word of mouth, now redoubled his labors in the attempt to secure a supply of seed from the south. The price of seed soared. With the close of the war there was a great rise in the price of timber for board fences—pine fencing costing $20 to $22 per thousand feet in Chicago, cedar posts $20 to $30 per hundred and nails $9 per keg at the same point. There began thereupon another great swing toward the use of the osage hedge. The movement reached the proportions of a "craze." Under the influence of speculation the price of the seed rose as high as $50 per bushel. In the year 1868 it is said that $100,000 went to Texas and Arkansas for the purchase of seed. M. L. Sullivan of Iroquois county desiring in 1867 to divide his farm of 45,000 acres into fields of 640 acres, prepared hedge rows for the planting of 80 miles, but could not secure the plants. J. T. Alexander of Morgan county about the same time entirely surrounded his famous "Broadlands Farm," consisting of nearly 42 square miles and located in Champagne county, with an osage hedge, with sufficient subdivisions to bring the total amount of hedge up to about 100 miles. In addition this "cattle king" had constructed a trifle of some 85 miles of board fence on the same farm. In 1879 there was estimated to be 100,000 miles of osage hedge in the state. In 34 counties of the state in the following year osage hedge was estimated to constitute about 20 per cent on the average, of the total fencing. In some counties as in Kankakee, the proportion rose to 75 per cent. In others, as high as 50 per cent.

The inevitable reaction came. The fatal delusion—previously indulged in—that all that was necessary was to set the plants and let the hedge care for itself again brought its natural results in wide spread failure. The osage orange was not proof against the characteristic neglect of the western farmer. As one writer says: "Not one mile in ten was ever trimmed properly. Fences grew out of all bounds. Lower limbs died, breaks occurred and upper limbs threw out ferocious arms to scratch and tear." With the beginning of the real introduction of the barbed wire about 1874 the osage hedges began to disappear, at the expense, of course, of much work in their eradication. In the early enthusiastic days a law had been passed permitting a temporary fence for five years, to be built six feet over on the public roads, providing a hedge fence was set on the true line. Now it was found necessary (1883) to pass another law requiring the owners of hedge fences along highways to trim said hedges at stated periods and in a manner laid down in the law. Four years later (1887) the barbed wire fence was added to the list of fences recognized as "legal fences."

RELATION OF CATTLE FEEDING TO FERTILITY

SUMMARY OF EXPERIMENTS MADE UPON EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Extract of Address by Charles E. Thorne, Director of Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, to Cattle Feeders' Convention.

(A brief abstract of an address by Charles E. Thorne, director of Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, to the Illinois Cattle Feeders' Convention, July 15, 1913.)

years, a period during which new land was constantly being brought under the plow and great improvements were being made in tillage and harvesting machinery, but from that time to the end of the century the yields were stationary or retrograding.

After nearly half a century spent on these farms the brothers passed away. * * * At the end of another quarter century these farms came into possession of the experiment station and since then careful records have been kept of their produce.

On A's farm was established a 4-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat and clover, the wheat being tilled and sown with open yard manure, a system following closely after the one that had been practiced by the former owner and one a little better than the average practice of the country. Under this system the average yields of corn and oats for the

MARKET OUTLOOK BY JOHN T. ALEXANDER

SEVERAL ABNORMAL CAUSES OF DEPRESSION OF FAT CATTLE MARKET.

Excessively High Temperatures Curtailed Beef Consumption and Disturbed Industrial Conditions Also Repressed Demand—High Spot in 1913 Trade has Not Yet Been Reached.

(By John T. Alexander, Union Stock Yards, Illinois, to the Illinois Cattle Feeders' Convention, University of Illinois.)

With the exception of brief periods the fat cattle market has disappointed the trade during the past forty days. The exceptions, however, have been encouraging, demonstrating that the public is still eating beef. Last week we were afforded an example of possibilities, and a diagnosis of June conditions reveals several abnormal causes of depression. While the supply of that month was generous in a numerical sense, the run also carried weight, hanging up considerably more beef in coolers than statistics indicated. Cattle reaching Chicago for several months past have averaged around 100 pounds per head more than during the corresponding period last year, so that the scarcity argument has been temporarily inoperative. To aggravate matters, excessively high temperature curtailed beef consumption all over the country, especially in the east, and disturbed industrial conditions, also repressed demand. We must not overlook the fact that the product is costing the consumer big money and he is always disposed to show resentment by reducing purchases. This is a beef eating country, however, and even semi-abstinence is impossible for any lengthy period. A feature of the summer trade has been a broad outlet for well finished yearlings, and the supply of little cattle has been decidedly liberal. Compared with heavy bullocks the young steers have found a satisfactory market. For half fat yearlings buyers have been less keen and growers will do well to learn the lesson that to get maximum results yearlings must be fat.

Quarantine cattle, as Texas bred stuff from below the "tick" line, as known in trade vernacular, have been running somewhat freely during the past 50 days. They have arrived in good flesh and the bulk of them sold below the 7c line, making lots of cheap beef, and, under the circumstances, the grades of native steers with which they compete have done a very creditable market stunt. Down in the southwest, they are using cotton cake as grass and making their quarantine cattle much better than in former seasons.

Prospects rather than market history concern the feeder most, and views from the standpoint of optimism is warranted. That the entire grass producing region west of the Mississippi river will market a small crop during the coming season is certain. The Dakotas, Montana and Wyoming picked their herds close last season in response to the incentive of high prices, insuring a light beef roundup in 1913. Northwestern grazers have been compelled to restock in recent years largely with Mexican and other trash, consequently the short run in sight from that quarter will lack quality. An acute beef shortage exists on the Pacific coast and that quarter will draw most heavily on the east of the Rocky mountains. Even from southwestern pastures come reports of a deficiency. Corn fed cattle have been run heavily and the trade expects only moderate supplies from that quarter during August, September and October, consequently prices ought to work higher unless the public quits eating beef entirely. Hog product is high, no cheap mutton is on the market horizon and beef will undoubtedly have less competition than last summer and fall. Prediction is always a risk, but I am convinced that fat cattle are due to keep higher levels. Each year a high spot in the trade develops and that the pinnacle of 1913 has been recorded nobody versed in market matters believes.

Much has been said and written about beef scarcity. So far this year that commodity has been reasonably plentiful, but how feed lots are to be replenished if the growing corn crop lives up to expectations is worrying many. We have been told that with free trade South America will deluge our markets, but investigation shows this to be an error. In the first place, Argentina, the only surplus producing country in the southern hemisphere, has been getting out of cattle and into grain. Commercial cattle values have advanced 50 per cent at River Plate freezers within a year, and while Australia may throw a little beef into Pacific coast markets, its influence will never be felt east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Argentina could only injure our common cattle even if able to fill Atlantic coast markets, which the best informed people in that trade say is impossible, and present prices in North and South America for the same grades of cattle show a differential of only about 2c per pound in favor of frozen Argentine beef laid down at New York on a free trade basis. Considering inferiority of the foreign articles its popularity will be doubtful unless River Plate prices fall and the trend of cattle values down there is upward.

beans or of millet may sometimes be secured without serious injury by the grubs, because of the greater amount of vegetation produced by these crops.

While the eggs of the May beetle seem to be deposited in greater numbers in grass lands, crops following grass apparently being injured often and more severely by white grubs, yet there is abundant evidence that the eggs may be deposited in great numbers in other crops. Reports are at hand showing severe injury to such crops as corn, potatoes, beets, etc., on land that was in oats, clover and even in corn at the time the eggs were deposited which produced the injurious brood of grubs.

Clover should be substituted for grass in the crop rotation, however, since this is in accordance with the best agricultural practice, and since by lessening the tendency toward a concentration of the grubs in a few fields, and by distributing the injuries more uniformly, the aggregate amount of the damage might be reduced.

Hogs are extremely fond of white grubs, and where it is practicable to allow them to run on a badly infested field, they will eagerly root up and devour these insects in great numbers. Hogs have been used to clear infested ground of this pest in a very effective manner.

Large numbers of the soft bodied grubs can be destroyed by plowing, if the plowing is done before the grubs go down in the fall, or after they return to the surface in the spring; and many more that would escape mechanical injury from the operation of plowing will be captured and eaten by birds before they can burrow into the soil and escape.

Information or inquiries relating to outbreaks of this, or of any other insect pest are always welcome at this office. Correspondents are requested always to send specimens, if possible, when writing. Address communications to S. A. Forbes, state entomologist, Urbana, Ill.

BROOKLYN BRIEFS.

The teachers much enjoyed the stirring address by Charles Mathis last Sunday morning. Superintendent Reid plans for several speakers during the next months.

A large audience was present at the lawn services last Sunday night. The music was excellent. The vested choir was ably supported by the regular chorus and Mr. W. P. Duncan rendered the always welcome selection, "The Bird With a Broken Pinion," in such a manner as to call forth many expressions of appreciation. The address was on "Boxes," and Rev. Mr. Alkire treated "Band-boxes," "Clear Boxes," "Ice Boxes," "Cash Boxes," and finally the long pine box which the undertaker sets out upon a pile of fresh dirt in some cemetery. And that box will just fit us when the time comes.

The coming Sunday night will see another very fine musical program and Rev. Mr. Alkire has announced as his subject "Where We Lost Out." Additional seats will be prepared and a welcome to all is extended.

Miss Ruth Brittenham is home from a two months' visit in Champlain. Miss Alkire is home after several months' on the road for a White Hall firm.

The "Young Hickories" executed a fine surprise on their president, Master Donald Alkire, Tuesday night. The occasion was his 12th birthday and the boys had a fine time celebrating. Nearly twenty-five were present to enjoy the camp supper and participate in the indoor baseball. They tendered Donald many fine gifts and the occasion will be long remembered by him. Ed Johnson is the class teacher and Rev. Mr. Alkire the manager. The club will have a tent at the Nichols park chautauqua and the members' lodge forward with great pleasure to their annual outing.

SNI LEEVE LAND OWNERS
MET AT HULLS FRIDAY

Talked About Successor For Late Captain Atkinson as Commissioner—Proposed Improvements Explained.

Members of the Sni Levee Land Owners Protective association and other owners of land in the big drainage district along the Mississippi held a meeting at Hulls Thursday. The purpose was to talk over matters of interest to the land owners especially relating to the selection of a commissioner of the district to succeed the late Capt. Atkinson.

The meeting was called to order by H. T. Shaw of Summer Hill, president of the association, and W. E. Ward of Rockport acted as secretary. There were about sixty land owners present and two sessions were held, one at 10 o'clock and the other at 1:30 o'clock. Everybody present had an opportunity to talk and to express views on the commissioner-ship. The larger number of those present favored the candidacy of Louis Kenady of Hulls. Other candidates who found favor were John Milburn of Atlas, Henry Marion of Atlas, Herman A. Koeller of New Canton.

J. C. Gay, one of the commissioners of the district, was present and told something of the condition of the Sni district finances and of the plans for the future. There is now $16,000 in the treasury and about $14,000 will come in from the next assessment, the third installment of the $160,000 authorized by the court for the betterment of the Sni. He said that this sum will not be sufficient to finish the work and that the commissioners will ask for another assessment. Uncle John Reid, one of the long time land owners of the district, vehemently attacked the course followed by the commissioners and declared the whole system of drainage a great failure. He said that there was no use in dredging out the Sni ditch because it filled up so soon again. Mr. Reid's views seemed to be too radical for most in the assemblage.

The land owners were especially interested in the statement made by Mr. Gay relative to securing the services of C. G. Elliott, an eminent consulting engineer, to formulate a plan which will be a benefit to the whole district. The survey is now being made by the Jacksonville Engineering company and from the data of this survey Major Elliott will make up his report and recommendations. The expectation is to provide for a system of improvements by units so that special drainage plans can be carried out in special districts. This will apply especially to land adjacent to certain creeks which now damage lands whenever there is a time of high water. These creeks not only damage the lands near them but also send a great deal of silt or earth into the Sni ditch and gradually fill it up. When a special improvement is proposed for special territory it will be up to the land owners to decide whether or not they want the work done. The whole plan seems to be a sane and sensible one.

The Sni Levee district is sixty miles long, four to twelve miles wide and includes 110,000 acres of land owned by 500 people. If a majority of the land owners representing a majority of the acreage unite in a petition for the appointment of a certain man as a commissioner then the county judge must appoint him. This has happened but a few times during the thirty-three years the present district has been organized. Judge Grote will probably within a few weeks select a commissioner from several who will file petitions.

IS SUPERINTENDENT

NAMED HEAD OF JACKSONVILLE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Given Unanimous Vote by Members of the Board of Education at Meeting Held Last Night—Board Will Consider Plans of New 8th Grade Building This Evening.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education Friday night, Prof. W. A. Gore was unanimously elected Superintendent of the City schools, to succeed W. A. Furr, resigned. All members of the board were present and Mr. Gore was put in nomination by member George S. Rogerson. The motion was seconded by member E. E. Bavington. The vote was unanimous.

For the past few days the board has had under consideration a score of applicants, men well known in educational circles, and the appointment of Mr. Gore speaks well for the standing he maintains in school work.

The only other matter which commanded the attention of the board last night was the matter of the new eighth grade building. It was voted to hold a special meeting this evening at 7 o'clock, at the city hall, at which time plans as outlined by Architect Buckingham, for the reduction of the cost of the new structure will be discussed.

Prof. Gore, who will assume head of the city schools, came to Jacksonville last November as principal of the high school, to succeed Principal W. O. Stoops who went to Joliet. Prof. Gore came originally from Marion, Ill. He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1905 with the degree of A. B. In 1908 he received his Masters Degree from the same institution. He is still taking work from the university and expects to receive his Doctors Degree of Philosophy after another year's study. Following his graduation at the university he was superintendent of the schools at Atwood, Ill., for two years and the following two years was a teacher of mathematics and a coach of athletics in the academic department of the University of Illinois.

The next two years Prof. Gore taught mathematics and physical training in Oak Park high school of Chicago and following this he was chosen principal of the high school at Cairo, which position he held for a year and a half, until he received his appointment as principal of the high school here. Mr. Gore has been unusually successful in his school work, having had splendid preparation, and his advancement has been most commendable. His appointment as superintendent here will still widen his field for the application of his educational ideas and ability in school matters.

WAS THE HORSE STOLEN?

Griggsville Independent Press: On Wednesday of the fair a gentleman from near Jacksonville came to town looking for a stolen horse and buggy, but at the time of his coming nothing was known of the rig here, soon after he had gone however two young men and a young lady drove into town with the rig described by the former gentleman, and had it put up at the Anderson livery stable. Later in the day when they called to have the horse hitched up, employees of the stable told the men that they could not let the rig go out as they had been informed that it was stolen, and they had orders to hold it. Of course the whole party went up in the air, and the lady said it was a lie, that the rig belonged to her brother. Be this as it may, the stable people held the rig until about 7:30, and as the man charging that it had been stolen from him did not show up, and the further fact that they had no legal right to hold the outfit, they let the young people depart. They admitted that the man who appeared first and gave a description of the horse and buggy has not returned, and here the peculiar story ends.
